DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, there is lack of proper antecedent basis for the limitation "said projecting track sections".

Regarding claim 2, there is lack of proper antecedent basis for the limitation "said projecting sections of the track line".

Regarding claim 7, the claim recites "wherein all said track line sections are directly supported by said supporting structure and are not suspended by means of rigging systems"; however, in claim 1, the claim recites "the runway comprising cables forming rigging systems connecting the projecting track sections of the track line structure to the supporting structure". It is not clear if all of the track lines are directly supported by the supporting structure or if some of the track lines are directly supported by the supporting structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3714

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sturgis.

Sturgis teaches in the figures a runway comprising a supporting structure (5) and a track line structure (fig.1), the track line structure is sustained by the supporting structure (fig. 1), a number of track sections (fig.1; 35—it should be noted that tracks for a bridge are constructed by sections), an upper start region (at the position located at 14') and a lower arrival region (at the position located at 14), a limited extension defining a central region (the length of 5), the track line including some of the track sections directly connected to the supporting structure (fig. 1) and some of the track sections of large extent projecting out of the central region defined by the supporting structure (fig.1), cables forming rigging systems connecting the projecting track sections of the track line structure to the supporting structure (fig. 1) and the rigging systems supporting the projecting track sections and establishing their geometrical locations 9fig.1).

Regarding claim 2, Sturgis further teaches the cables having an extension (fig.1; Note: The examiner takes the position that the cable's extension of Sturgis can be regulated).

Regarding claim 3, Sturgis further teaches the supporting structure substantially forms a pillar (fig.1).

Regarding claim 4, Sturgis further teaches a substantially vertical mast (fig.1), substantially horizontal extensions projecting from the mast (48, 49) and uprights (16) extending from extensions and the extensions and uprights supporting the tractions by means of the rigging systems (fig. 1).

Art Unit: 3714

Regarding claims 6-8, Sturgis further teaches both the supporting structure and the track line comprise modular elements forming a system of composable modular elements (fig. 1). It should be noted that the examiner takes the position that the modular elements of Sturgis is suitable for composing simple runway structures.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
